Chaffee Leaves For Convention

Eugene B. Chaffee, president of the American Association of Junior Colleges left Friday morning, Feb. 2, to attend the 31st annual convention of the association in Des Moines, Iowa.

The convention met from March 1 to 8, with the first major meeting Monday evening, March 5. This year's meeting, presided over by President Chaffee, was devoted to a symposium around the topic, "Our Nation, Our Youth."

Members of the symposium were Wm. R. Wood, junior college specialist from the U. S. Office of Education; Howard O. Johnson, specialist from the Bureau of Naval Personnel; and Lawrence L. Bethel, director of the New Haven Junior College.

Chaffee delivered to the association his presidential address at the Tuesday meeting. His topic was "Our Nation, Our Youth and Junior Colleges."

On Jan. 18 Chaffee appeared before the senate armed services committee in the interests of the American Association of Junior Colleges and at that time submitted a manpower plan that is beneficial to both the military and the junior colleges. A good deal of the convention work will be devoted to further consideration of this plan.

Ad Column Planned

For sale—cheap: Space in the roundup for want ads. The fee will be two cents per word.

The national crisis has brought about many sudden changes. And many soon-to-be-khaki'd men are getting caught with spare spewriters, tennis shoes and ski paraphernalia. The stuff might just as well be sold as gathering dust.

A want ad column will be included in the next issue of this paper. All ads may be left in room 118 before March 20.

B-Cubes To Hold Cotton Swing

The annual Cotton Swing, sponsored by the B-Cubes, will be held March 17th. Gloria Johnston and Hallie Morris, co-chairmen, said, "the committee chairmen are working hard to make the dance a success and we hope many students attend to make it the top dance of the year."

The committees are: orchestra, Mary Lee Moss and Lynn Satterlee; tickets, Martha Willman and Florine Ihle; floor and door, Marlene Rein; intermission, Phyllis Karn and Annette Black; invitations and chaperones, Doris Criswell, Lena Jantz and Dorothy Murray; publicity, Barbara Wartman, Myrtle Siebe, Diane Chester and Rosemary Atkin; programs, Carol Dahlberg, Dorla Hogenmiller and Pat Stoy; decorations, Joye Whipple, Dolores Anderson, Margaret Carstens, Beebe Bernaola, Elaine Evans, Pauline Paulson, Barbara Moulton, Dorothy Gunthert, Laura Lyman, Virginia Chapin, Delores Johnson and Barbara Compton.

AW Assembly Set

Miss Susan Hamilton, president of the Associated Women Students, has announced that the AWS will present an assembly Monday, March 19th, at 10:00 a.m.

Susan Hamilton and Pat King

Barbara Black is the chairman of the AWS' program which will be a minstrel show. The program will be made up of: interlocutor Pat King; Mr. Bones, Joanne Cutler; Tambo, Barbara Moulton; quartette, Mary Knapton, Phyllis Karn, Carol Dahlberg, and Virginia Worley; uke, Beverly Brennan, Annette Black, LaRae Dunn, Elaine Evans, Marliese Freeman, Mary Anne Trebin, Rose Brunney, Caroyl Clover, Delores Anderson, Caroyl Clover, Mary Lou Clark, June Obenchain, Mary Lou Clark, Joyce Liles, Janet Hawkins, Marglene Barber, Jerry Emison, Margery Ennis, Betty Judy, and Dorothy Botts; accordion solo, Lynne Barbara Thompson; chorus, Lynne Satterlee, Barbara Compton, Charlene Stillwell, Joan Tollefson, Hallie Morris, Judith Culver, Lena Jantz, Dolores Johnson, Shirley Kelly, Chloris Cooper, and Jo Anne Shaver; solo, Beverly Keesey singing "Carolina in the Morning"; and a tap dance by Dorla Jo Hogenmiller.

Cast Prepares To Wow 'Em with Song

Tonight at 8:15 p.m. the fifth annual musical Bach to Boogie will be presented in the auditorium by music and drama students of BJC. This year's edition is the work of Bill Johnston, former BJC student now enrolled at the College of Idaho.

The setting is a small eastern town's only legitimate theater. The theme of the script is the problems of show business set to music from Bach to Boogie interwoven throughout the dramatic action. Johnston did the script especially for this production.

Annually the choir members and others in the Boise Junior College music department pool their efforts and the result is an evening's entertainment featuring types of music from the classic of Bach to the latest in Boogie.

Production staff for this year includes: script, Bill Johnston; director, LaRae Dunn; staging and lighting, Ronald Cochran; production, Dave Wailes; costuming, Marliese Freeman; make-up Warren Pepperdine; finances, Bob Ne-

Yugoslavian to Speak At IR Club

The International Relations Club will give a "pot luck" dinner March 23rd at 7:00 p.m. in the student union.

Miss Vera Ostrogorsky, formerly of Yugoslavia, will be the guest speaker. Miss Ostrogorsky came to the United States from a displaced persons camp in Germany and arrived in Boise a few months ago.

Mary Lynn Hepner is in charge of the dinner. Miss Euvada Aston, president of the International Relations Club, announced the dinner was only for those who have paid their dues.

Dorms Near Completion

The latest project on the BJC campus is the dormitories for next year's out-of-town students. The total cost amounts to $500,000. Each dorm is equipped to accommodate 78 students.

The furniture has been ordered. All the bedroom furniture was planned to be functional and "out of the way." It is upholstered in the latest colors. The men's rooms davenport are covered with leather. Most of the bedroom furniture is built-in.

There are 48 single and 15 double bedrooms. The new dorms boast a social room, recreational room in the basement, one guest room and a bedroom for the counselors in each dorm.

Stars of the Bach to Boogie production this year are singers Joanne Cutler and Keith Tombrink.

Tickets are still being sold by cast members. General admission is 74c.

Trip Abroad Planned

A Western European Integration is planned for the summer of 1951. This trip will be a course in field sociology and an on-the-spot study of political, social and cultural activities in Western Europe.

The group will sail from New York, July 6th and return to New York August 16th, under the management of The Open Road. The Open Road, a non-profit organization, has a long record in handling field courses abroad and in the United States.

The academic advisory committee of BJC voted six semester hours credit under "Field Sociology" for those who take the tour and desire credit. It also voted these credits could meet the social science requirements for those desiring the title Associate of Arts. Those who receive credit will keep a notebook of experiences on the tour and write a paper on impressions upon return.

The fee for the trip will be $867, exclusive of fees for credit. Anyone interested may reserve a place with the party by depositing $100.

Dr. Paul E. Baker, dean of men and chairman of the sociology department,

New Historic Society Elects Dr. Obee For President

Dr. Donald Obee has been elected to the position of president of the Boise Valley Natural History Society.

This society was formed last fall in the Boise area and is composed of 75 members.

Anyone who is interested in the natural phase of history may become a member. The group meets five times annually, alternately at BJC, Northwest Nazarene College and the College of Idaho.

For its summer meeting, the Society plans a weekend outing headed by President Obee.

TEACHERS RETIREMENT PLAN: TOO COSTLY FOR IDAHO?

The all important issue of whether or not to uphold the teachers' retirement plan is now in hot debate among the Idaho legislators.

The situation is something like this: Teachers in the State of Idaho have been contributing a certain percentage of their monthly salary to the retirement plan. The teachers' contributions are supposed to comprise half of the monthly sum, the other half is obtained from the district, county and the state. In some cases the district and county are unable to meet the specified amount, in which case the state is required to provide the difference. At the present time the state is delinquent some 2 million dollars.

The question now in the minds of the legislators is this: Is the teachers' retirement plan essential enough to warrant the state's payment of this huge sum?

It might be interesting to note here that in the state of Idaho a teacher is not eligible for social security benefits, which makes the present issue all the more important.

Therefore, we might draw a picture of what the results would be should the legislators decide to "deep-six" the retirement plan. A good many Idaho teachers may, out of the understandable desire for security, transfer to another state where adequate security provisions are made. Again, if the plan is rejected, Idaho would be the only state in the Union without security benefits for teachers.

This, as we can well assume, would be detrimental to Idaho children, and should certainly require much consideration, especially from Idaho parents.

Language Plays Set

The French and German club plays will be given March 20 at 8:15 p.m. in the auditorium. Both are medieval farces brought to life with colorful costuming by Dorothy Gunthert and Barbara Wartman for the French, and Earl May for the German.

A summary will be given in English before each play for those who do not understand the foreign languages. With this enlightenment the action can easily be followed.

Students from BJC will be admitted free upon presentation of their activity tickets. A 50c general admission will be charged, and a 35c admission will be charged students of other institutions.

A special invitation has been extended to former French and German students to see these plays.

RAMBLIN' AROUND

The faculty members of BJC were asked, "What was your most interesting trip or vacation spot?" Their answers were interesting and covered many different places in the United States and abroad.

Dr. Donald J. Obee, head of the science department, said his most interesting trip was a leisurely tour of the West. He made this trip with a schoolmate in a Model Ford. What made the trip so interesting was the fact that they didn't know where they were going. When the road forked the two would flip a coin to determine which way to go. In this manner they managed to see Bruce National Park, Grand Canyon, the Painted Desert, the Petrified Forest and Mesa Verde National Park in southern Colorado.

Dr. James Moore, head of the history department, said his most interesting trip occurred while he was in the army. This excursion was made in a truck convoy over the Burma Road in India. There were two reasons why this trip will never be forgotten. One, because it is the roughest road in the world, and two, because the driver of his truck became ill. Although Dr. Moore had never driven a truck before, he learned how in a hurry. By the end of the trip he classified himself as a first-rate truck driver.

John R. Young, business department, considers his trip from the Midwest to Boise as his most interesting. One of the colorful spots along the way was his visit to Yellowstone National Park.

Mrs. Camille Cramer, language department, has traveled both abroad and in the United States and considers Guatemala the most interesting country she was visiting. She chose this country because of the great contrasts found there. She found people of this ancient country still wearing their native costumes and living their lives as their forefathers did hundreds of years ago," she said.

Mr. John Best, BJC orchestra director, said the New England states are the most arresting part of the country to him. He particularly likes to visit them in Fall because of the exquisite coloring of the countryside. He also finds the history of the New England area interesting.

Mrs. Mary Bedford, librarian, thought her most memorable trip was made last summer to Washington, D. C. She found this tour both educational and enjoyable. While in Washington Mrs. Bedford attended the Graduate Library School of the Catholic University of America.

Dr. Robert de Neufville, language department, said that the place he would like most to visit again is Florence, Italy. Dr. de Neufville visited Florence while he was a student and found that it had some of the best museums in the world. He also said the architecture of the city is beautiful, as well as the landscape and the fabulous sunsets, there made a lasting impression on him.

Out of 31 northwest colleges and universities BJC placed ninth in donations to the WSSF. The students and faculty here averaged 32c per person.

Let's Go Clubbing!

The Future Teachers of America have changed their regular meetings from Thursday to the first Monday of each month at 8:00 p.m. in the home ec. room.

The FTA's held their first social at this new time Monday, March 5th. A business meeting was held and refreshments were served.

Plans were discussed for the second annual social to be held this spring. Students interested in education will be invited to attend this social. These invitations will include students from the different towns in this section of the state.

Miss Mary Lynn Hepner, president of the Valkyries, announced that the Valkyries will present an assembly March 14th at 2:00 p.m.

Marge Kinsey is the chairman of the Valkyries' production which will be a television show. Some of the famous personalities in this show will include Baby Snooks, the Toni Twins, the Lone Ranger and My Friend Irma. There will also be several commercials.

The new Valkyrie song, words and music by Marge Kinsey, will be presented for the first time at this assembly.

President of the Bronco Ski Club, Lyle Cunningham, announced today plans for the club's race at Bogus Basin in the near future. Colin Taylor will be in charge of the race which is only open to members. Trophies will be awarded to winners in each event.

Myrtle Siebe, of the publicity committee for the B-Cubes, announced further plans for the club's annual Cotton Swing. The dancing will begin at 9 p.m. on Mar. 17. This will be a girl-ask-guy affair to be held in the Union. Dick Metcalf and his orchestra are supplying music for the cottons-and-cords couples.

IK's Convene in Utah; Boise Gets The Vote

The Intercollegiate Knights convention was held this year at the University of Utah where BJC was elected to be the national home office. The host chapter was the Scalper Chapter. Roy Fraser, Bill Booth, Bill Gottenberg, Mike Thometz, Bob Crisp and Glen Compton were the delegates from the Golden Plume chapter of BJC.

Registration was held Thursday, February 21, when Dr. Olpin, president, gave welcoming addresses to delegates from 19 chapters. In the afternoon the assembly broke up into committees.

That night the stag party was held at the Policeman's Club, and delegates were told, "there will be women there," and "keep manly instincts well in hand." The party was a success with entertainment furnished by the school.

Friday night the banquet was held in the student union with Jack Baker as master of ceremonies. Entertainment was furnished by the Kappa Kappa Gamma quartet. After the banquet a dance was held in the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Newhouse. Intermission entertainment was furnished by Roy Fraser, who sang Blue Moon and Night and Day, accompanied by Jack Baker, from the Utah Scalper Chapter.

Saturday, the assembly again convened and elections for national officers and offices were held. Keith Orme, from Gold "Y" Chapter at BYU, was elected Royal King for the coming year. DeWayne Bills, former Golden Plume member, was elected Royal Duke.

Bids were opened for Scribe Chapter. The Ball and Chain Chapter at the U. of I. and the B.J.C. Golden Plume Chapter were the ones who submitted bids. After fifteen minutes of debate, the question was called, and BJC nosed out the U. of I. by two votes.

This means that BJC will be the home office for the national organization. The Golden Plume Scribe Chapter will handle all records, supplies and correspondence for the 28 chapters throughout seven western states.

The Wigwag Chapter of Seattle University was elected to edit the Roundtable, the I.K. annual.

There are 48 housing units located on the campus for married students.

Broncos Cop Third Place in District

The Voice of the Bench

By Phil Roche

The recent three game tournament in Ogden was a thriller-diller from the Bronco standpoint. It's a good thing there weren't any spectators with weak hearts attending the BJC games for each of the hairraisers was capable of putting anyone with an inferior ticker out of his misery forever.

Take the Bronco opener against a championship Wyoming outfit for an example. The BJCs had the tilt wrapped up, but hit the skids late in the game and nearly kicked their lead away with some wild ball handling. The subs, Benny Marinaga, George Donaldson, and yours truly were nearly exhausted from the excitement in spite of the fact that their athletic pursuits were confined to the bench for the 40 minutes.

If anyone on the squad thought that the atmosphere was calming after that opener, they were in for a surprise. The Broncos scrapped with Snow College on the second day of the meet and it wasn't enough that the score was tied about 10 times during the regular session, but when the gun sounded ending the fray, the scoreboard read 42-42. The five minutes overtime carried heart failure every second and finally ended with a one point loss by the Broncos.

The third and final game of the tournament for BJC was similar to the others in providing thrills galore. To make a long story short, Bob Gilbert won the game for the Broncos as he tossed the leather through the nets just as the gun sounded indicating the tilt was officially over. It was difficult to tell who was closer to exhaustion, the players who had played in the three spine-tinglers or those who spent the games on the bench.

Anyway, there weren't any spectators who had to have first aid, which is a sure sign that those who attended the Bronco frays were all sturdy souls with good hearts.

A few years from now when BJC is established as a boxing power (and we personally believe this will be the case) boxing fans can give thanks that Coach Laune Erickson and his four proteges stuck to their guns in spite of the many obstacles encountered in their first year of boxing.

The squad ended their season with fine showings in the two tournaments they entered. Thus, the boxing program at BJC has found a solid foundation on the broad shoulders of Bowen, Lowrey, Crooks and Ingraham.

BOWEN INVITED TO NATIONAL MEET
Coach Laune Erickson announced Wednesday that Fred Bowen, BJC light heavyweight boxer, had been invited to participate in the National Invitational Tournament at Pocatello. Bowen will be competing with boxers from Santa Clara, San Jose State, Idaho State, Stanford and UCLA.

Sport Portraits

This is the story of how a rugged sport served to give a youth a real chance to participate, and how that youth took advantage of the chance.

Dean Ingraham was too light for football, too short for basketball, and held little interest in baseball, but he did have a competitive attitude. This spirit, however, was not brought out until this year when Dean found boxing to be the sport he had been looking for all his life.

Although he had gone out for athletics in Boise high school he had always been cut from the teams, and his athletic interests were confined to watching his classmates garner glory on the playing fields. When boxing opened at BJC this year Dean reported to Coach Erickson hoping that he would be able to stay on the team. He not only stayed with the squad but chalked up two smashing wins in the post season tournaments, and added prestige to the boxing name of BJC.

Ingraham lost his early bouts and a lesser athlete might have become discouraged with these set backs, not so with the plodding Dean. The 135 pounder remained with his new love and came into his own in the late stages of the season.

Ingraham is a quiet kid whose only other interest in life is art. His big ambition is to become a commercial artist, but he believes that his plans may be interrupted by a "paid vacation in Korea." Dean himself sums up his life when he says, "I was born in Boise, raised in Boise, schooled in Boise and in all probability will die in Boise."

The next time someone begins to run down boxing tell them the happiness it has brought to this athlete who had never been given a chance before. Remind them of the scholarly Dean's words after winning his first fight, "My ego really soared, and I was jumping with elation."

A startling fact was revealed recently when Bob Gilbert, Bronco basketballer, was asked his favorite sport. Instead of listing basketball as tops on his sports parade, Gil stated that the hoop sport ran second to billiards. The former La Grande athlete likes to play pool during the time before a game, but team members tend to stay away from him in the billiard parlors as he taps balls in pockets as easily as he pushes basketballs through the nets. Bob states that the indoor sport relaxes him and helps him do better on the cage court.

Bob Gilbert

Gilbert's performances in the district tournament indicates that he must have spent many hours playing billiards because he canned 23 points, including two desperation shots from mid-court. His last second swisher gave BJC a 51-49 win over the Branch Aggies in the final game of the tournament. The district tournament added another sports thrill to the eventful athletic life of the 165 pound hoopster. Bob's thrills come a mile a minute in sports like football, baseball, and track, all of which he participated in while attending La Grande high school in Oregon. He gathered nine varsity letters in his prep days and was picked on the Blue Mountain all conference teams in both football and basketball.

Gilbert was born in Castle Gate, Utah on Dec. 5, 1931 but moved to Oregon in time to establish himself as an outstanding prep athlete. He decided to enroll at BJC because the school offered a fine athletic program and a chance to transfer to other colleges after graduation.

Future plans for "Groucho," (as he is called by teammates) are indefinite because of the world situation, but BJC fans and coaches are hoping that Uncle Sam will keep his hands off this hunk of athlete for at least another year.

His own words concerning his ambition in life adequately sum up the character and personality of Bob Gilbert "to have friends and be a friend."

Broncos End Play With 8-16 Record

The Boise JC Broncos ended their 1950-51 season last Saturday evening with a 51-49 win over Utah Branch Aggies to establish a 8-16 record. The cagers from BJC won four intermountain games and lost eight to wind up in third place in the northern division of the league.

A grand total of 1253 points were tallied by the Broncos in their 24 games which gave them an average of 54 points per game. Their opponents fared slightly better as BJC foes generated an average point production of 65 each game.

Leading scorer for the season's play was C. W. Totten who shot and ran his way to 365 points or an average of 15 for each game. "Moon" Mullins placed second in the basket department as he totaled 201 points, and Bob Gilbert was third with 159 tallies.

Each member of the starting five of Totten, Mullins, Gilbert, Winslow and Ingram is a freshman.

BJC Boxers Score Wins In Tourneys

BJC boxers scored points in both the district and Arco tournaments held earlier this month as Fred Bowen (175) tallied two victories in each meet. By virtue of his wins at Rupert, Bowen is recognized as the district light heavyweight champ.

Dean Ingraham won his first bouts in both tournaments but lost close decisions in the finals. The two other BJC mittmen, Bert Crooks (155) and Don Lowrey (165) lost their matches on decisions.

Results of District Bouts

135 lbs.—Ingraham decision Quak (Westminster), but lost in finals to Kelsey (Ricks).
155 lbs.—Crooks lost decision to Robertson (Ricks).
165 lbs.—Lowrey lost decision to Orme (Ricks).

Score Victories Over Wyo. Champs Branch Aggies

The Boise Broncos entered the District Junior College Basketball Tournament with rating of "dark horse" of the meet, and proceeded to justify this rating as they hustled home the third place trophy by virtue of two close victories over highly rated opponents. Their lone loss came against Snow College who won a hardfought 48-44 decision.

Weber College, the host team emerged as the tournament winner when they defeated Snow in the finals 57-45.

The Boise squad encountered the championship Northeastern College of Wyoming team on the first day of the tournament and promptly disposed of the Aggies by a 62-60 margin. After racing to a 14 point halftime lead and building this margin to 51-30, the Broncos suddenly faced a letdown which almost cost them the game. The Wyoming champs repeatedly stole the ball from BJC and came within just two points of tying the game.

The individual scoring for the Broncos was evenly spaced as Totten notched 18, Mullins 13, Ingram 11, Winslow and Gilbert 9. Bob Dorr, however, was the top point gatherer as he tallied 19 for the Aggies.

Snow College Triumphs In Overtime Thriller 48-47

The Broncos were paired with Snow College on the second game of the tournament and after a nip and tuck overtime battle, Snow sneaked through with a 48-47 win. Regular game time ran out with the tilt knotted 42-42.

BJC then dived to a three point lead in the first two minutes of the overtime, but their victory hopes were blasted when Ivan Allred connected with a free throw after the contest had been tied 47 all. The loss knocked the Broncos out of title contention and sent Snow into the finals with Weber College.

Third place was salvaged by the Broncos as they upset a favored Branch Aggie team on the final night of the meet 51-49. Bob Gilbert was the hero of the fray as he let loose with a long arching one-hander from midcourt which found its mark just as the gun signaled the end of the game.

C. W. Totten ended the season with another great effort as he hit the hoop for 25 points. The Aggies, led by 6' 7" Max Bond, had rolled to a 49-44 lead just a few minutes before the end of the game, but the determined Broncos hit for seven straight points while the Aggies were idle.
